THREATENED STRIKE.

Steamshovelmen in Panama Threaten Strike—Rainy Season On.

PANAMA, May 13.—The threatened strike of steamshovel engineers and crane-men has not taken place. A few dissatisfied men have gone back to the United States but there is no appreciable break in the ranks of the steamshovel men. The rainy season has begun in earnest and the steamshovels will not take out yardage at the rate maintained for the last few months.

If any one has any doubt as to the virtue of Foley's Kidney Cure, they need only to refer to Mr. Alvin H. Stimpson, of Willimantic, Conn., who, after almost losing hope of recovery, on account of the failure of so many remedies, finally tried Foley's Kidney Cure, which he says was "just the thing" for him, as four bottles cured him completely. He is now entirely well and free from all the suffering incident to acute kidney trouble. T. F. Laurin, Owl Drug Store.

RIVER COMMERCE

Inland States Organizing Water Commissions.

WILL AID GOVERNMENT WORK

It is Hoped That Well Developed River Transportation Will Do Much Toward Equalizing and Lowering Present Freight Rates of Railroads.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The water transportation is rapidly assuming an important position in the internal affairs of the United States as the railroad has commanded. Official notification was received here this week that Arkansas has organized a State river commission to act in conjunction with the national government, and that the State of Wisconsin is considering the creation of a commissioner of waterways to have the same power and authority over transportation by water as the State railroad commission exercises over transportation by rail. It is regarded as likely that similar action will be taken in a number of other states, where the legislature have not yet adjourned.

The state of Arkansas is one of the most favored states of the Union in the matter of navigable rivers on or within its borders. The new river commission proposes to see to the permanent improvement of these streams, particularly in the case of the Arkansas River and its tributaries. The organization is composed of state and municipal officials and the various trade and business associations throughout Arkansas. It will work in conjunction with the national government to aid in the general plan of internal waterway betterments.

Wisconsin, it is learned, will dignify the new waterways officials with sweeping authority. He will be appointed in the usual manner by the governor and confirmed by the State Senate. The bill creating the office is now before the legislature, and was introduced by State Senator Owen. It contemplates a salary of $5,000 a year for three new officials, and the measure has the endorsement of the State's congressional delegation, both Congressmen each and Cooper speaking in favor of it at a recent hearing before the legislature committee.

Wisconsin is interested deeply in the further development of a number of its rivers, chief among them is the Mississippi. Wisconsin, Chippewa, Black and St. Croix. The State has awakened to the fact that it is in possession of an invaluable method of transportation in its waterways, which hitherto have been allowed to lie dormant. It is intended to pursue a vigorous policy of development in connection with these streams, chiefly to the end that rail rates be reduced and to insure the State against a repetition of the freight congestion that helped the whole Northwest last fall.

This activity on the part of the States can be traced to the missionary work done by the National Rivers & Harbors Congress. For five years this organization, purely patriotic in character, has kept before the people of the United States, and brought to the attention of Congress, the necessity for rehabilitating the inland waterway traffic. During the debate on the rate bill, it was declared time and again that well-developed rivers, capable of the transportation of heavy freights, would do more to equalize and lower railroad rates than any law that could be devised. This is the contention that all along has been made by this organization.

The National Rivers and Harbors Congress, which has been heartily endorsed by President Roosevelt, is deeply desirous that the work so well begun be kept up. In order to provide the stimulation necessary to effect this, Capt. J. F. Ellison of Cincinnati, its secretary, is seeking to enlist as members every person and organization in the United States interested in the development of the rivers and harbors of the country, or in providing some means to care for the nation's growing commerce. In his crusade for greater membership he has the support of many members of Congress. In fact, the president of the organization is Congressman Ransdell of Louisiana, a member of the River and Harbors Committee of the House.

FROM THE CITY HEALTH OFFICE.

Attention is hereby called to the rules and regulations of the State Board of Health which makes it a duty to report cases of measles. While the present epidemic of measles is of a very mild form and while the diagnosis may be comparatively easy, this office holds that it is not consistent with the best interest of the community to leave it promiscuously to the laity to make such diagnosis.

Notice is therefore given that after this date the city health office will not accept any report of measles or any other contagious or infectious disease, except in writing, signed and mailed or filed at this office by a regular physician. F. V. MOHN, M. D., City Physician.
